There had been no reunion for several Much thanks is due Miss Margaret Nelson for the success of this one.

W. D. Bull of Castleton has in his pos ession for mounting one of the largest trout ever taken in that part of Vermont. It is a brown trout, 26 inches long, the live weight of which was eight ounds. The fish was taken from the Battenkill river at Manchester. It was caught under rather odd circumstances. The angler cast his fly onto a big pool, and a small fish snapped it, not getting hooked. The wielder of the rod made customary strike, but in the instant ore he could recover the line, the eight pounder took the feathered lure.

Miss Josephine M. Webster, now employed as executive secretary in Duchess county, N. Y., has been engaged in a similar capacity by the Vermont Children's Aid society and will begin her du ties in this state Oct. 1. Five thousand Hars, the minimum amount necessary starting the child welfare work, has committee consisting of Masch M. Wilson of Randolph, Charles Tuxbury of Windsor and Guy W. Bailey of Burlington was appointed to raise funds as the future of the society may demand. The annual meeting of the society will be held at St. Johnsbury Oct. 1 at the same time as the Vermont conference on social work, with which the children's organization is connected.
